Activity

Children divide into groups of three.
One is the spotter, one the thinker and the other the mail man.

Say

The spotter names someone in another group.
The thinker tells the mailman something special that child can do eg "You can give the biggest smile/laugh/yawn/giggle etc." "You can sing the sweetest, loudest, fastest etc."
The mailman runs to give that child the message from his/her group.

The object of the game is to see how many messages each group can give before finishing time.

Debriefing Questions

Was anyone surprised by the message they received?
How did it make you feel?
Will you do anything now that you haven't done before?
What?
